DEDICATION 1993

P. T.
Sollitto

A teacher is an Instructor, Educator, Tutor, Director, Guide, Coach, Informer, Professor, Lecturer, Master, Mentor, Adviser, Disciplinarian, and Trainer.

This year's Tattletale is dedicated to a very special teacher, one who has given hours of time to the class of 1993. This time has been given with love and care for all students. Whenever there is a need to get something done, this individual can be counted on. Whenever a friend is needed, this person fits the bill. She truly is a wonderful lady. To say that she is a great teacher isn't enough. She is a friend, confidant, role model, a caring, loving person, and she genuinely enjoys her students. She is a credit to her profession.

Her enthusiasm and determination has resurrected the school spirit in all of the students at Attleboro High School. Her never ending smile and great sense of humor follow her wherever she goes. Teaching History, coaching girl's tennis, and being an advisor of both student council and close-up are only the obvious contributions she makes to students which we would like to thank her for. Most of all the class of 1993 would like to say, "Thank you Sollitto," for going above and beyond your line of duty to be such a great friend to all of us.

We love you!

Free At Last

We the people of the United States...

"...I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream."

...in order to form a more perfect Union...

"...I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slaveowners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood."

...establish Justice...

"I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character."

...insure domestic Tranquility...

"With this faith we will be able to transform the jangling discords of our nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood."

...provide for the common defense...

"And if America is to become a great nation, this must become true."

...promote the general welfare...

"With this faith we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, knowing that we will be free one day."

...and secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and to our Posterity...

"And when this happens, when we allow freedom to ring, when we let it ring from every village and every hamlet, from every state and city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual, "Free at last! Free at last! Thank God Almighty, we are free at last!"

...do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Since he first learned to reason, man has had an innate desire to be free and an inborn hatred for anything that restrains. It is a thread that runs common through all of mankind -- a thread that ties together men and women of many different races, colors, and creeds.

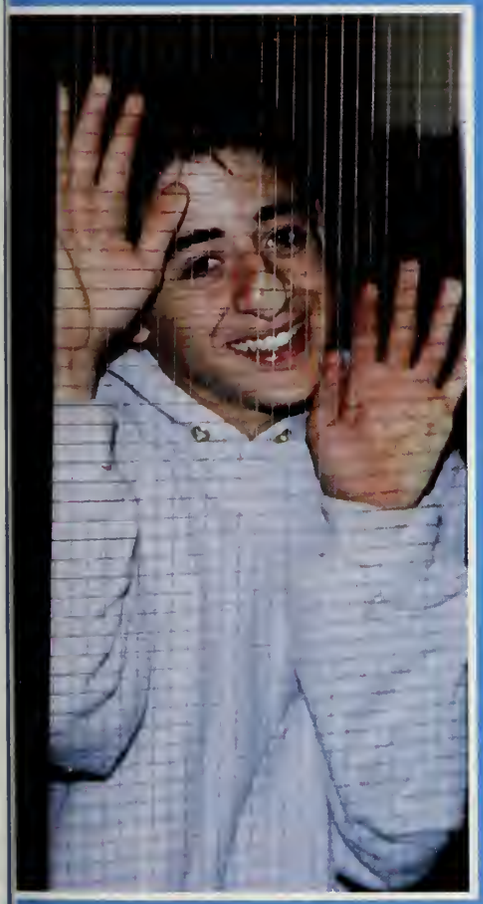
Man also wishes to be free of danger, of fear, of war: of things he cannot understand. These things imprison not the body but the mind and the soul -- and lead to conflict and disorder in our society. Fear creates fear and war leads to more war, feeding upon itself and growing silently among us.

This year we are going to be free. Free of high school, free of our parents; free of our former responsibilities. We will find ourselves thrust into an entirely different world -- an unknown world, full of frightening possibilities but also fresh and exhilarating at the same time. Everything around us will change -- and we will experience these changes together.

With this in mind we should look at society on a local level. Racial tensions wrack our school and community as violence spreads like a cancer. We should hope for a day when we can experience a different change: a change in attitudes, a change in the way that we see the world. We can only hope to understand another person by trying to view the world through their eyes.

Freedom has its price. One must use it wisely and carefully and understand the responsibility that is attached to it. We have grown considerably since we were first turned loose on the earth ages ago; but the current state of our world today tells us that we still have a long way to go...

. . . to be free to be . . .



No man who knows aught, can be so stupid to deny that all men naturally were born free.

— John Milton

Good, great and joyous, and free;
This alone is Life, Joy, Empire, and Victory.

— Percy Bysshe Shelley

Man is born free, and everywhere he is in chains.

— Jean Jacques Rousseau

The Meaning Of Liberty

The statue was a monument — both a metal artifact and a symbol. It existed in the packing cases on board the Isère and also in the mind of the artist who gave it form. The copper plates, reassembled, would rise in New York harbor. The symbol was and remained a vision of Europeans.

With the waning of the Middle Ages, restless Europeans had turned their gaze outward, and had begun to probe the spaces to the east and to the west of their own continent. At first the movement involved a small minority of men unwilling to accept as fixed the society and the culture into which they had been born. Often they did not know what they sought, except that it was something different from what they had. They contrived legends of the Holy Grail; they wandered in pilgrimages; and for a time they embarked on the great emotional movements that were known as the Crusades. Or, like Marco Polo, they used trade as an excuse for escape to a far place. An uneasy compulsion urged them on, although to what destination was not clear.

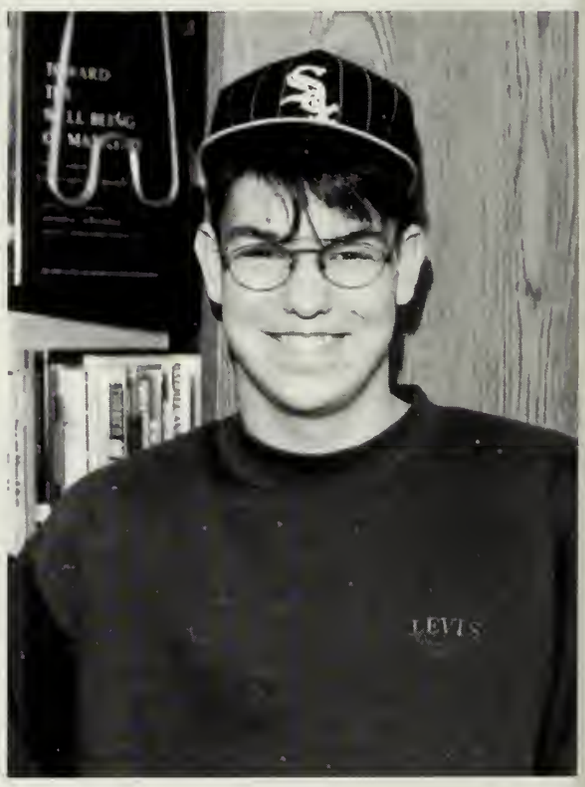
ATTLEBORO

Colorado

Foreign Exchange Students

Hello! I'm Maria Canelos. I won't put my whole name because it'll take all the page, so I think that Maria is enough. I'm an exchange student from Ecuador, South America, and even though I miss my country, my family and my people very much, I'm enjoying my experience here a lot! I love the pizza, I love drama, and I love my boyfriend. I didn't know that being an exchange student would be so much fun. It is something that I really recommend to all of you. Thank you for being so kind to me. I'll be back soon!



Hi!

Most of you may not know me — I'm Toby Furhmann, that dude from Germany.

I still remember the first day I came to Attleboro High. I was all confused and of course got lost. But only a few periods later some guys and girls were already coming up to me after recognizing my strange accent. They were so friendly, and since that day, things went better — I learned more and more and the students explained everything to me. Soon I no longer felt like an alien, rather like I always belonged here.

It's been a really great year for me.

Thank you, AHS — I'll miss you!!

I remember my first day at Attleboro High School. Everything seemed to be too huge and strange. I didn't know anybody and I realized that everything was very different from my home country, Germany. It was difficult at the beginning, but a lot of people started talking to me and helping me. They became my friends and I am happy that I got to know them. I know I am going to miss everybody and I am proud that I was a part of AHS.

Thank you for all the good times,
Cornelia Blome

S.U.P.A.

It's SUPA — In its fourth year at AHS, SUPA (Substance Use Peer Assistance) provides support and encouragement to students seeking a drug-free lifestyle, as well as awareness and resource information about tobacco, alcohol and other drug use and related high-risk behaviors. SUPA promotes campaigns that encourage non-use such as Red Ribbon Week and the Great American Smokeout.

Students who join SUPA enjoy helping others. Many like to work with children and some want to pursue a career in psychology. Peer assistants who staff the drop-in center are trained in responding to students in crisis and directing them to available resources. Some SUPA members have received child abuse prevention training and help New Hope educate elementary students to be "Safe, Strong, and Free!"

In its first full active year, The A.H.S. Environmental group has been very successful. We've taken on such projects as: an aluminum can recycling drive, maintaining the courtyard garden, designing posters to be hung around the school, and school-wide paper recycling. One of our most meaningful projects was around Christmas-time. We earned enough money through can recycling to buy a living Christmas tree which we gave to a needy family in Attleboro. We also dug a hole for the family so that they could plant the tree after Christmas. All of us on The A.H.S. Environmental Group have a sincere concern for our environment and encourage everyone to "Think Green!"

Write Stuff and On Target

The A.H.S. Literary Magazine, The Write Stuff, provides a chance for students to have their writings and artworks published. With the help of a dedicated staff and the tireless efforts of our advisor, Mrs. Hebert, we have been able to put together some outstanding sections. It has been a great year and I wish continued success in the future.

Band

And The Beat Goes On . . .

This year has been a great year for both the marching band as well as the concert band. We have pulled together and put many hours into rehearsing for our performances. Our success wouldn't have been possible without the dedication of our director, Mr. Perlmen, our drill instructor, Mr. Silva, the Band Parents organization, and especially the members of the band themselves. We would like to thank you all for the great times and memories and wish next year's group continued success.

A Cappella Choir & Festival Chorus

Despite many setbacks last year and a late beginning this year, the members of the A Cappella Choir have pulled together and sound better than ever. Under the direction of Mr. William MacPherson, the choir has tried new kinds of music and has plans for many performances throughout the year. We would never have pulled it off without the dedication of our members, director, and parents who get us to rehearsals at 6:15 a.m. every morning. Good luck with next year's group and thank you all for some great memories!

VICA
A Job Well Done

VICA, like most things of lasting value, came into being out of a need. The basis of the free enterprise system, the worker, was coming under great criticism. Corporate executives and consumers alike lamented the seeming death of quality and pride in craftsmanship. The need to instill a positive work attitude and encourage ethics, initiative and excellence in the younger generation of workers had been tried before, as early as the 1920's. But these early attempts were doomed to failure, as they depended on educators alone and did not involve industry. So it was in 1965 that the Vocational Industrial Club of America was born, destined to bring together fragmented groups from all of America in a new sense of craftsmanship and pride. The key has been involvement, active participation and support from industry.

VICA is now a national organization of individuals involved in coeducational secondary and post-secondary vocational education. It is the only national organization whose purpose is to serve industrial youth. This results in employees who are self-starters, who are dedicated to their trade, who take pride in their work, and who believe in the system. VICA instills these values in students before they have had the opportunity to develop bad work habits. We contribute to their enthusiasm for a job well done.

Spirit Rally

Marshal keeps going and going and going . . .

Some seniors beat on the juniors with a big stick.

Who is that masked marvel?

Some went low, almost too low.

This sophomore did her kicking the weekend.

Michelle has strong knees.

These freshmen had moves of their own

Too close for comfort

Glenn and Michelle got close in public

Some had to resort to lunacy to win the rally

There are a lot of junior girls

She needs to go further than this if she wants to win

There's a good view from the floor

Hey mon! Set me up.

Varsity Booster Club

The Attleboro Varsity Booster Club is a volunteer non-profit organization established to fulfill the primary goal of awarding distinctive A.H.S. jackets to students who letter in a sport. The secondary goal of the club is to provide book awards to graduating seniors (one female and one male) to help defray the cost of higher education to those students that participated in athletic or cheerleading activities while maintaining high academic standards. Funds are raised through concession sales, memberships, dances, and donations.

Scoreboard donated by the Varsity Booster Club

Donations from the V.B.C. made it possible for Mr. Byers and the carpentry students at A.H.S. to construct a new trophy case.

The Booster Club will also administer the Ken Breese Memorial Soccer Scholarship Fund to be awarded to graduating seniors, one each from the Boys and Girls Soccer Teams. Ken Breese was a former President of the Attleboro Varsity Booster Club, a leader within the community, and instrumental in establishing the Attleboro Youth Soccer Program.

Political Liberty

In 1776, young Thomas Jefferson undertook the most importa assignment of his life, that of drafting the text of the resoluti by which the Continental Congress dissolved the connection the American colonies with Britain. In most cases, the phras flowed easily from his pen: the thoughts they expressed we familiar to him and to his future readers. But when he came enumerate the grievances against King George III he had search hard for an appropriate word to express what he wish to say. All along, when he referred to the Americans for whc he spoke, he had used the word "people": one people, rights the people, people at large; sometimes he had said, "we" "our." But at one point, he noticed that he had written, "o fellow subjects taken captive on the high seas"; and the wo "subjects" seemed incongruous to him. That was hardly t appropriate designation for the people of independent stat Searching his mind for a term that would describe the pc ticipants in the political system about to emerge, Jefferson upon the word "citizens," which thereafter, first in Ameri and then in Europe, came to describe the relationship of fr men to free government.

The word was novel in 1776, but the relationship it describ had a long history in the New World. By the time Jeffers wrote, the distinction between citizens and subjects had becor one of the features that distinguished Europe from America.

Boys' Cross Country

Through our hard work, determination, and dedication, the boys' Cross-Country team kept the A.H.S. Spirit alive! With the help of a few devoted freshmen, our team captured a remarkable 2nd place in the E.A.C. meet. This has been our strongest improvement in our four years of Cross-Country.

There was a lot of individual and team improvement throughout the season as well. But what seemed to be our biggest goal was that we never put our heads down, but instead we kept on running towards the light down the road . . .

The Attleboro Girls' Cross-Country Team had a very successful season. We were undefeated in dual meets and EAC League Champions. Besides the wins and glory that we shared, we also shared the honor of knowing what a team is, and how working together can win any title.

We had talented runners who will hopefully continue running next year and have another successful season. Good luck, strive to be the best, and remember "We are the champions."

I want to wish everyone the best of luck. The new Captains are a great choice and I know that they will do everything they can to help! See you next year at the Alumni Game!

A Dream Come True

The 1992 season was definitely a dream come true. The preparation started back in January when we began an intense weighlifting/running workout. Hard work and dedication kept us going, heart and desire kept us together. The dedication and unity paid off as the season went on. Winning the first two games gave us confidence in ourselves. Losing to Mansfield was kind of a "wake-up call" and learning experience. From that we rebounded to win our next six games and, in that stretch, captured Attleboro's first league title in 21 years and Attleboro's first ever berth in the Superbowl.

Losing to North was extremely disappointing and heartbreaking, but the only reason for the outcome was that we beat ourselves. The Superbowl brought out the same emotions; though tearful, it was also profitable. We hope we have started a tradition and brought back pride in Attleboro football. To next year's team, best wishes, good luck, and keep on "GOING TO WAR!!"

Football Cheerleading

The cheerleaders show thei great moves at every halftime.

The 1992 football cheerleading squad had a very successful season. Cheering for a winning football team gave the squad the incentive to work even harder. This hard work along with dedication paid off because we've become stronger than ever. The friendships that have grown out of this squad will never be forgotten.

We wish the best of luck to future squads and hope they have the determination and success that this squad has attained.

We would also like to wish our senior classmates good luck in all their future endeavors. We would like to thank the underclassmen for all their time, effort, support and dedication that they contributed to our team. We hope you will continue to succeed in accomplishing what the seniors feel they have accomplished. Girls' Soccer

This is the first year that girl's soccer was recognized as a sport, having a J.V. and varsity team. Although our record was only 3-9-3, the season was still a success. We had lots of fun and the dedication along with hard work of the players, showed in the great improvement from the beginning of the season. We had many young players who were a little intimidated at the start of the season. Their skill and teamwork improved greatly throughout the season and they will be tremendous assets to the team in years to come. Good luck to the future teams and remember, A.H.S. Soccer kicks . . .

The 1992 volleyball season was a very satisfying one. We all worked together at mastering skills and setting goals for success. Although we didn't qualify for the state tournament, our overall season was nothing to be ashamed of. We had what it took to work together and we all gave it everything we had. Many freshmen came out for the team which enabled us to maintain a winning team for years to come. We wish next years' team the best of luck. Basketball Cheerleading

Congratulations to our basketball team for their accomplishments this year and winning a game at the State Tournament.

Basketball season is never the end of the year for us. We continued to practice 6 days a week on a new routine preparing for our three competitions. At North we received second place and at Chicopee we took third. When we got to the States we didn't know what to expect. We found out, though earning first place in our division and placing third out of the 50 squads there.

We'd also like to give sincere thanks to our coach, "Mrs. J," for her dedication to our squad. She knew our potential and made us reach it and go beyond it. Without her we wouldn't be where we are today. Our prayers are with her and her husband and we wish them all the best.

Boys' Winter Track

"All our dreams can come true —
if we have the courage to pursue them."
Walt Disney

Walt Disney had a dream and a plan, and both became realities because he had the desire and the motivation to follow them. Well, this year's 1992-93 track team was always striving for its best whether we won or not. The dedication, determination, and drive of hard working athletes and the vision of two great coaches. Kevin Deschenes and Ralph Slovick, sparked a very successful season for the boys.

Through the courage and the perseverance to pursue a positive attitude of winning, the intimidation soon turned into anticipation for each new race. The hard track workouts will soon be forgotten but the many memories and friendships will grow as with our dreams and hopes of a successful future — like Walt Disney and the 1992-93 Boys' Winter Track team.

Girls' Winter Track had a very successful season due to the hard work and determination of the entire team. The enthusiasm and closeness of the team led to a winning season, with great personal success coming to everyone. We had a strong group of senior athletes, as well as very talented underclassmen that will bring continued success to the team. May next years' team revel in victory as well, for the race is not always to the swift and strong, but always to the best.

Freedom From Want

Wants always constrained men and women. Deprivation chained them. Those without strength lived in helpless misery. Those with some power struggled for the liberation that came with relief from the pressure of want.

The most common wants were the most fundamental. The daily bread that eased the pangs of hunger; the clothes and shelter to protect the body against the cold and rain; and the means of providing for the children's future — these ingredients of survival occupied the thoughts and energies of most humans in most places at most times. To secure them people bowed their backs in labor or in prayer. These needs were the great ends of life for those who knew that without them they would perish.

Freedom from want was therefore a goal attractive to all. Few people ever really expected to reach the earthly paradise in which the satisfaction of desire would leave them free of care. But however great or small the hope of success, the mere promise was enough to justify the struggle for this freedom.

Religious Liberty

Bartholdi faced the simple problem: how to give the idea of liberty a form in metal. The Americans who contributed to the pedestal considered a more complex issue: what had liberty meant in their national experience? But the question that concerned millions of immigrants who peopled the United States was most difficult of all: what way of life could people live in liberty?

The question was not at all theoretical. Upon the answer hung the practical decisions that took thousands of families and individuals on hazardous adventures to a strange new world. Yet the great majority of those who came were unprepared to grasp the meaning of liberty. Certainly many longed for relief from the burdens that law, custom, and economic deprivation had forced upon them. But few could imagine an existence without restraint; just as prisoners grown familiar with the routine of the cells — while continuing to dream of release — are unable to conceive of a society in which men can act without the guidance of bars and patrolled corridors.

The possibilities of freedom dawned slowly: at first upon a few driven by the claims of conscience, then upon the greater crowd of fugitives who wished to escape from political oppression, and finally upon the masses who fled from poverty. In time the host swelled, sweeping along men and women from every corner of the earth for whom America had become the land of liberty.

Central Administration

Joseph Rappa
Superintendent of Schools

To the Graduates of 1993:

Four years ago many of you entered Attleboro High School for the first time. So did I. These past several years have been ones of great change and excitement for Attleboro. They saw the beginnings of Blue Pride, the introduction of hundreds of little learners in what used to be the A-wing, a revival in the athletic programs, particularly football and basketball, and the school-wide student led conferences on diversity, difference, and change.

The Class of 1993 embodies both the end of an era and a beginning of a new one. I feel like I, too, have grown and learned with you in this process of renewal and change. This yearbook represents a snapshot of the change process that occurred over the 1992-93 school year. However, no book can capture the mixture of emotions, thoughts, relationships, and sensations associated with a special year in each of your lives. This book is an historic document, a treasury of pictures, quotes, and comments from dear friends and teachers. Preserve it, revisit it, and as time passes use it to help you in remembering that you can grow up without growing old.

I know I join with each and every one of you in celebrating and recognizing the twenty-five years of service that Mr. Bray has given to our school and its students. He, too, is a graduate of the Class of 1993.

To each of you, my best wishes for a life of good health, great accomplishments, and most of all, warm, lasting relationships.

Excelsior!

High School Administration

Perhaps no single person in the history of Attleboro High School has left so great a legacy as Principal Robert H. Bray. With his retirement this year, Mr. Bray completes 37 years as a friend to the students of the high school.

Mr. Bray has served as a science and math teacher, a guidance counselor and an assistant football coach. His career in Attleboro began in 1956. After serving as assistant principal, in 1968 Mr. Bray was appointed principal and has dedicated the last 25 years to the service of the city's youth. He has served with distinciton and led by example. Two generations of Attleboro citizens have been touched by Mr. Bray's sincerity and vision.

Mr. Bray, the Class of 1993 and the entire student body and staff wish you the best of health and happiness in all of your future endeavors. You will be missed.

Preparing For the Future

Tucked away somewhere between the pool and Willett School lies a precious gem. Some are hardly aware of its existence. But it's there, and has been for a very long time. It is the Business Department.

During the past year the Business Department has dedicated itself to developing the technological skills of its students. Each day students process words, formulate spreadsheets, manipulate data bases and create documents using desktop publishing. Sometimes all of this is incorporated into a single document. It is our goal to have all classes in the department spend time working on a computer.

If you've always wanted to become technologically literate but could never seem to find the time, make the time! It's way of the nineties. Come and discover that precious gem — the Business Department.

Carpentry
Building the Future

Anyone who thinks that all carpentry entails is banging in nails or pushing a saw back and forth does not realize that carpentry encompasses many different disciplines. One can learn about cabinet making, milling procedures or operating different types of equipment. Another might study the different styles and types of furniture that are made. Or one may choose to look at the framing trade and the different tools that are required for it. Whatever path is taken, these students learn the skills needed for success in today's job market.

Babara O'keefe

After 37 years of dedicated service at Attleboro High School, it will be difficult to imagine our high school setting without Mrs. Barbara O'Keefe. Few are the people who passed through our corridors who will not remember Mrs. O'Keefe as a warm, sincere and fun-loving person. For many, her health office was a welcome oasis on a desolate day; a safe haven when all the problems of the world descended on one's shoulders. In short, she was always a friend.

Mrs. O'Keefe will also be missed by faculty and staff members who found a caring person when illness beset them or just plain needed a hug on a stressful day. And don't forget that blood pressure check!

Mrs. O'Keefe, we wish you all the best. We know your energies will continue to benefit all with whom you come into contact.

Science

The Science Department consists of a staff which is well qualified and prepared to offer a variety of programs for students at the high school level. The courses reflect this variety so that students can participate in scientific studies in Biology, Chemistry, Earth Science or Physics at many levels.

Students are encouraged to participate in a variety of activities including essay contests, science projects, seminars and summer programs to further enhance their backgrounds in the sciences and to help them in further career planning.

Social Sciences

JOHN AMARAL — DEPARTMENT SUPERVISOR

The Social Sciences Department offers students the opportunity to become more aware of the world which we share, and thus gain a wider perspective in preparing for a future in which "change" will be the constant. Emphasis is placed upon introducing vocabulary and concepts basic to various social sciences; surveying major world civilizations. including our nation's past and its political, economic and social institutions; and learning to use critical thinking skills to confront demanding contemporary issues which face our nation and our world. Our elective offerings in Economics, Law, Psychology, and Community Service provide the chance for students to further explore their interests, and consider related social science careers.

Progression through the sequence of courses seeks to cultivate those life skills which will allow students, as citizens of an rapidly changing, information-rich world, to make sound decisions, exercise their rights, and accept their responsibilities. Volunteering through our Community Service Program offers students the chance to put the values learned in social services to actual use in commitment to the community. Students can "make a difference in someone's life", while enjoying hands-on opportunities to explore potential careers.

Teaching methods include a variety of techniques (inquiry activities, cooperative learning groups, discussions, prepared debates, lectures, guest speakers, role playing, simulations, field trips) and technologies (computer simulations, CD ROM data disks, laser-diskes, VHS cassettes and other audio/visual materials).

First of all we would like to tell you that it is a miracle that this yearbook is complete. Putting this together was a tremendous task for us. The dedication of those few people who were with us to the very end is greatly appreciated. We would like to especially thank Mr. Burbank. Without his help and guidance, this yearbook would not be possible. Good luck and congratulations to the class of 1993.
